

Science activate: Magical World of Macroalgae

WHAT: Macroalgae

(also known as seaweeds) are photosynthetic, non vascular organisms, closely related to plants and comes in many shapes and sizes

Most non-vascular plants like hornworts, need water to complete their life cycle, while macroalgae need to be underwater ALL THE TIME!

Hornwort
non-vascular plant

Macroalgae
non-vascular organism

WHY: Macroalgae produce food, oxygen, and habitat for many marine life.

Circle all the macroalgae you can identify in the scene below.

